PRAJNYA

Letter from the Managing Trustee

The year opened with the grief and uncertainty of the pandemic. We knew very little about the disease, its course or treatment and we had little hope of universal immunisation in the near future. The pall of gloom and the feeling of helplessness were inescapable. Relief services were desperately needed but they were beyond our capabilities so the Prajnya team responded as we best do: with an invitation to creativity, by honouring women in health services and by curating and compiling insights from our expert partners.

At a time when we could not see past the fast-spreading pandemic, When Dawn Breaks invited imaginations of a post-pandemic utopia. Healthcare Heroes, a Prajnya Archives call, urged people to remember and share memories of those in their families who had taken care of others--as doctors, nurses or caregivers. The booklet, Reflections on Resilience, compiled the views of five senior disaster mitigation practitioners.

In the last year, Prajnya has built on our core strengths--curating and communicating knowledge and taking a long-term view on matters that are pressing today. As a small, mostly volunteer team, we have always worked remotely. We were able to put our strengths to good use through what has ended up being our most intensely busy year.

Having to go completely digital turned out to be a blessing for us. In a year when other causes (PPE, food, oxygen cylinders) were far more critical than our work, fundraising was not very successful. The low cost of digital programmes (no venue, no transport, no refreshments) meant we could still do our work, and this included online training sessions.

Going digital also allowed us to invite resource persons and speakers from well beyond Chennai. This enriched all our programmes immeasurably, including the newly re-cast Prajnya Gender Talks (earlier, Women's History Roundtable Series). We had speakers from around and beyond India, but we also continued to do programmes in Tamil, truly reflecting our local-global founding vision.

Take a look at what we managed to do last year, and I will ask you to please continue to support our work, as you have done. We also need your help to stabilise our financial situation. Your donations are invaluable but so is your effort to amplify our work to your network, either asking for donations on our behalf or helping us do paid training work. We count on you!

Reflections on Resilience

In 2016, Prajnya's first Saakshi Fellow Linda Racioppi and Swarna Rajagopalan published a volume of essays by experienced practitioners and academics, "Women and Disasters in South Asia: Survival, Security and Development".

As the pandemic began to surge across the globe, Prajnya invited Indian contributors to the volume to share their insights in the context of the COVID pandemic. The result, a rich collection of reflections on resilience—where it is absent, how it is being sustained and what it will take—that they thoughtfully wrote.

This was curated in partnership with the All India Disaster Mitigation Institute, Avoidable Deaths Network, Megh Pyne Abhiyan and Swayam Shikshan Prayog.

Aftermath

In 2020, as India was responding to the COVID-19 pandemic with chaos and a nation-wide lockdown, Prajnya invited scholars and practitioners to reflect on the post-pandemic challenges and opportunities for women's rights and gender equality. The result was Aftermath – a rich collection of blog posts that offered insights into various struggles and challenges faced by marginalised communities.

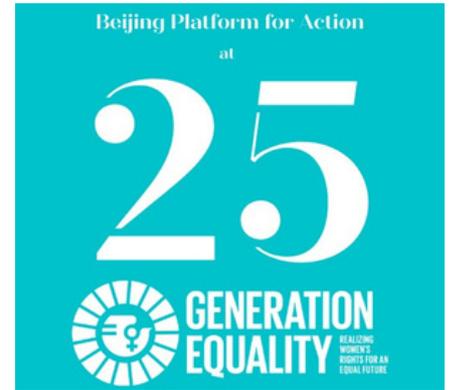

Contributions spanned across diverse topics and can be accessed here:

Beijing at 25

The Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action is the most progressive blueprint ever for advancing women's rights. As a defining framework for change, the Platform for Action made comprehensive commitments under 12 critical areas of concern. To commemorate 25 years of the Beijing Platform, Prajnya organised a series of events.

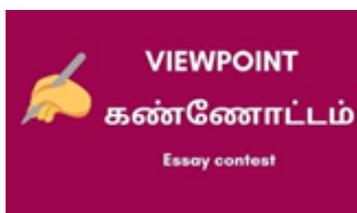

We invited participants who attended the Fourth World Conference on Women held in Beijing in 1995 for a freewheeling conversation and sharing of experiences. Panelists included Bimla Chandrashekar, EKTA; Sheelu Francis from Tamil Nadu Women's Collective; Manohari Doss, Tamil Nadu Labour Union and Geetha Narayanan, a Gender and Development consultant. View the conversation here.

From the Prajnya Archives, we handpicked selections showcasing women's engagement with the 12 critical areas of concern in the Beijing Platform for Action.

Participants were encouraged to depict the current status of their chosen issue and map a series of actions that would lead to the goal they seek to achieve.

A bi-lingual (English and Tamil) essay on themes such as COVID-19 impact on gender equality; the structural roots of women's poverty; democratic politics is gender-inclusive politics; gender equality and climate crisis mitigation and gender-based violence and social inequality.

Gender and the Changing Nature of Work: a webinar series

Friedrich Ebert Stiftung and Prajnya collaborated on a webinar series that saw academics and practitioners share insights on precarity in employment; care work and the 'hidden' labour of women; the gender-work-migration nexus; and masculinities and gender politics in times of economic distress.

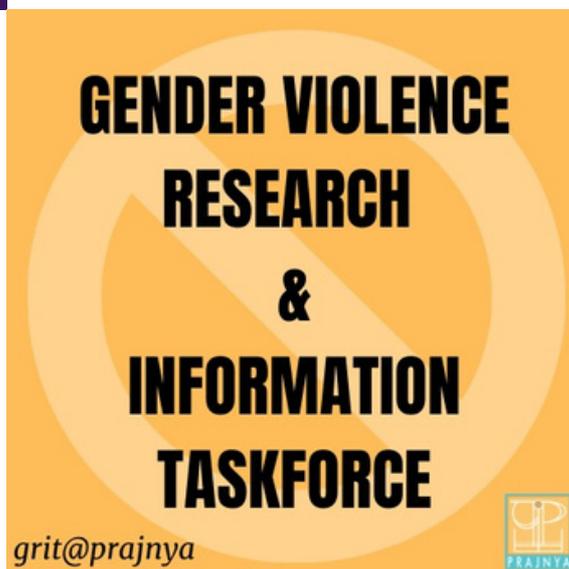

Transforming Gender Norms

A 3-part webinar series in collaboration with the Equal Community Foundation saw panellists discuss 'Why should we work with men and boys?' 'How can we work with them?' and 'Why should such work be supported?'

Gender Violence Research & Information Taskforce

Lockdown Experiences

In June 2020 we undertook a survey to gain a clear picture of the gender differences in the ways that women and men in Tamil Nadu were experiencing the COVID19 lockdown.

From the outset, it was clear that the lockdown had increased women's vulnerabilities in different ways—from the violence everyone was paying attention to, to the impact of the loss of informal livelihoods and domestic work, to health outcomes. Men too seemed to be affected in particular ways; for instance, most of the workers seeking to go home, were men.

This survey focused on lockdown life at home, on working from home and on marital relationships. We formulated two different questionnaires, each available in English and Tamil and posted them online. You can read the report here.

Prajnya 16 Days Campaign against Gender Violence

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the 2020 Prajnya 16 Days Campaign against Gender Violence was an all-digital effort. That did not diminish our creativity or outreach. We continued to pilot innovative formats, new partnerships and audiences and new platforms. Read the full report here.

Spotlight on Gender Violence and Militarisation: Taking note of how much content is now circulated and consumed on WhatsApp, we developed a series of six (very) short video presentations that can be easily shared. You can view them here.

This year, we piloted "Labyrinth," a policy design simulation game that was designed for Prajnya by Hemant Shivakumar of Round One. The ten participants in the game had to find a solution for a city's rising gender violence problem. The positive feedback from participants was encouraging and we hope to introduce this to a wider group.

Inclusive Equality: a workshop

Project Raise of the Equal Community Foundation conducted a workshop in which they shared insights from their work and offered strategies for including men and boys in the journey towards gender equality and a violence-free world.

Project Raise and Prajnya also collaborated on a social media campaign, #WhyWait, where Project Raise partners shared what they did to promote gender equality, and Prajnya posted a series of graphics urging people not to wait for a special event or law before taking the initiative to promote gender equality.

Shanta Memorial Rehabilitation Centre (SMRC) and Prajnya collaborated to produce a small booklet on SGBV against Women with Disabilities in India. Access the resource here. SMRC and Prajnya also collaborated to organise and record a panel discussion on “The Pandemic and Violence against Women with Disabilities: Communities and Inclusion.” Dr. Renu Adlakha and Nidhi Goyal were in conversation with Dr. Nandini Ghosh.

Gender Violence in India 2020

Prajnya's Gender Violence in India Report has been taking stock of the state of gender violence in India since 2009. This year, the Gender Violence Report was updated and prepared by Kausumi Saha, with a special section by Semmalar Selvi.

2020 was in many ways a landmark year because it witnessed, and continues to witness one of the deadliest pandemics in living memory. Women and other marginalised identities were disproportionately affected by COVID-19, as they were at much higher risk of infection, loss of livelihood, and gender-based violence in and outside the home. As situations changed, so did the forms of violence. For example, increased migration of labourers led to higher instances of trafficking of persons, and as classrooms and workspaces shifted online, cases of cyber violence escalated. The pandemic has had a profound impact on our economic, social, and political lives.

The problems of gender violence during these times were both amplified and in many ways, unique. This report captured these issues and serve as an important resource in the road to tackling gender-based violence.

The report can be read here.

GRIT PROCESSES: Trainings and Outreach

This year, our trainings on Gender Equality & Prevention and Redressal of Workplace Sexual Harassment reached beyond the usual corporate and collegiate settings.

- In June 2020, young performance artists from India and North America invited Dr. Swarna Rajagopalan to conduct a series of training sessions on workplace sexual harassment, the Indian and US legal contexts and innovating responses. Some participants were part of the founding cohort of Saha, an Indian collective. Others founded CareSpaces, which offers awareness programmes, peer support and a resource database to artists experience gender discrimination or workplace sexual harassment. Prajnya has partnered with both to organise talks and other awareness programmes since then.
- In January 2021, we conducted a gender sensitisation programme for the entire team of the Nalandaway Trust.
- The Tamil Nadu Labour Rights Federation (TLRF) invited us to do a training on the functioning of Local Committees (to address workplace sexual harassment). The training was conducted along with the Gramavaani Team. We undertook a follow-up on survey regarding public awareness about Law and LC in four districts - Madurai, Dindigul, Virudhunagar, Tirupur and Erode was done through IVR (Interactive Voice Response).
- We also continued our annual engagement to conduct gender sensitisation sessions for students at the Vaishnav Initiative for Excellence from Dwaraka Doss Govardhan Doss Vaishnav College. In addition, Dr. Swarna Rajagopalan, was invited to speak on 'Creating Spaces: a Talk on Workplace Ethics' to their Human Resource Management students.

Sansristi and Prajnya organised a five-day lecture series on 'Peace and Gender' from September 28 to October 2, 2020.

These were meant to introduce new audience to a feminist perspective on peace and security and to the use of a gender lens to think about these issues. Following its success, a second online edition was organised in February 2021.

The second edition focussed on students, mediapersons and other citizens to introduce fundamental concepts and issues relating to gender, peace and security.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To
The Trustees,
The Prajnya Trust
B 402, Prince Villa

Chennai – 600 017.

Report on the audit of the financial statements

Opinion

I have audited the accompanying financial statements of The Prajnya Trust (the Trust), which comprise the balance sheet as at March 31, 2021, and the Statement of Income and Expenditure for the year then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

In my opinion and to the best of my information and according to the explanations given to me, the aforesaid financial statements give the information required by the applicable laws and regulations applicable to the Trust in the manner so required and give a true and fair view in conformity with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, of the state of affairs of the Trust as at March 31, 2021, and its excess of Income over Expenditure for the year ended on that date.

Basis for opinion

I conducted our audit in accordance with the standards on auditing issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. My responsibilities under those Standards are further described in the auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements section of my report. I am independent of the Trust in accordance with the code of ethics issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI) together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements and I have fulfilled my other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the code of ethics.

I believe that the audit evidence I have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for my opinion.

Management's responsibility for the financial statements

The Trust is responsible for the preparation of these financial statements that give a true and fair view of the financial position and its financial performance in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including the accounting standards specified by ICAI. This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records for safeguarding of the assets of the Trust and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the financial statement that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the Trust is responsible for assessing its ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the entity, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

My objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, I exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. I also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Trust's ability to continue as a going concern. If I conclude that a material uncertainty exists, I am required to draw attention in my auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. My conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of my auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the entity to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

Materiality is the magnitude of misstatements in the financial statements that, individually or in aggregate, makes it probable that the economic decisions of a reasonably knowledgeable user of the financial statements may be influenced. I consider quantitative materiality and qualitative factors in (i) planning the scope of my audit work and in evaluating the results of my work; and (ii) to evaluate the effect of any identified misstatements in the financial statements.

I communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during my audit.
